Engagement with Suppliers:

- When appropriate, the Company will directly engage with suppliers to understand the measures they have in place to prevent modern slavery within their own businesses.

Employee Obligations:

- Employees must notify their manager (or the main point of contact at Wade Group) immediately if they believe or suspect a breach of this policy has occurred or may occur in the future.

Encouraging Concerns:

- All parties are encouraged to raise concerns about modern slavery in any part of our business, supply chains, or supplier tiers at the earliest possible stage.

Clarification and Support:

- If unsure whether an action, treatment of workers, or working conditions constitute modern slavery, employees should discuss it with their manager (or the main point of contact at Wade Group).
- Wade Group promotes openness and supports anyone who raises genuine concerns in good faith, even if they later prove to be mistaken.

Protection Against Detrimental Treatment:

- No one should face detrimental treatment (such as dismissal, disciplinary action, or threats) for reporting suspicions of modern slavery. If such treatment occurs, individuals should inform the General Manager immediately.
- If the issue remains unresolved, employees can follow the Company's grievance procedure.

Breaches Of This Policy

- Any employee who breaches this policy will face disciplinary action, which could result in dismissal for misconduct or gross misconduct.
- We may terminate our relationship with other individuals and organisations working for us or on our behalf (including suppliers) if they breach this policy.
